NATURALIST APPROACH TO ARCHITECTURAL DESIGN

23rd TO 26th AUGUST 2022 [10.30 a.m. to 03.30 p.m.]

Last date for Registration - 20th Aug 2022

Naturalist design promotes human habitation through the responsible use of natural elements. Sustainable design is an approach in the fields of design, architecture & planning. Green Building practices become necessary to provide a better-built environment for future generations. This program focuses on various aspects of sustainable design through the perspectives of stakeholders involved in it. In addition to the learnings from eminent experts in this field, practical applications of solar, windmill, water conservation & services will be the output of this program. These interactions will escalate the opportunities for research in areas related to the topic.

Building Services and their implementation in Architectural Design

5 Day Online Faculty Development Program 22nd to 26th August 2022 [1:00 pm to 4:00 pm] Last date to register: 21st August 2022

AROUT FDP

Building services are the systems installed in buildings to make them comfortable, functional, efficient and safe. These not only include plumbing, drainage, electrical, HVAC, and mechanical services but also contemporary ways of resource management.

These aspects are integral to the design of contemporary buildings. Architectural education needs to ensure that this integration of building services happens at the design stage for students of Architecture. To facilitate this integration and enhance the knowledge of all faculty members, this FDP has been proposed. The FDP intends to understand, evaluate and assess the academic curriculum module of Building Services in relation to the Architecture Profession. It will give participants a platform to understand the services and relate them better to Architectural Design.

ONLINE TRAINING PROGRAM

in collaboration with

Asian School of Architecture and Design Innovations

Research in Architecture

Date: 2rd - 5th August (10:30 am -3:30 pm) Registration Deadline: 29th July

PREAMBLE

Research in architecture encompasses original Investigations conducted in order to generate knowledge, insights, and understanding based on expertise, methods, and tools specific to the discipline.

Architectural research is an intrinsic part of the design process, but it is also a professional path that highlights fic evidence and explores alternatives outside of established norms. Creating a knowledge base can help achieve objectively better outcomes through design. This training program is designed to convey the importance of architectural research in practice and academia and to guide researchers through the apportunities and platforms currently available.

The program would be beneficial to academicians, research scholars, and practicing architects to create a better understanding of the types of architectural research, methodologies, scope, and opportunities as well as possibilities for pursuing a career in architectural research.

05 - Day Online Faculty Development Program

Date: 28th NOVEMBER to 2ND DECEMBER 2022 | TIME: 1:00 PM - 4:00 PM

Registration on first come first serve basis

About the FDP

The program aims to bring together renowned experts and speakers from specialized domains of teaching Design and Architecture from across the globe through discussion, knowledge sharing, and continued education and training of faculty.

Advancements in technology for decades have led to the globalization of the world. In the field of education, faculties, as well as students, are considered to be the two fundamental blocks of an educational system. Students and Teachers both need to refresh their knowledge with the passing of time as the world is moving towards technological advancement which leads to the discovery as well as the invention of new aspects in the architectural field of education as well as practice. Hence in order to provide the best teaching to the student, teachers must also know the best of all. The architectural education system needs integration & implementation of innovation, practical knowledge, and present-day concerns in teaching methodologies.

TAKE -AWAYS

- Knowledge of new techniques for teaching and learning & implementation of the same.
- Insight on amalgamation of current vs future (needs) in architectural teaching pedagogy.
- Academicians will get inspired and learn from examples of case studies on various topics discussed in talks by experts.

EFFECTIVE TEACHING METHODOLOGY IN ARCHITECTURE

05 - Day Online Faculty Development Program

Date: 28th NOVEMBER to 2ND DECEMBER 2022 | TIME: 1:00 PM - 4:00 PM

Registration on first come first serve basis

About the FDP

The program aims to bring together renowned experts and speakers from specialized domains of teaching Design and Architecture from across the globe through discussion, knowledge sharing, and continued education and training of faculty.

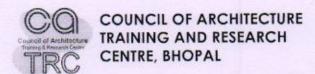

Advancements in technology for decades have led to the globalization of the world. In the field of education, faculties, as well as students, are considered to be the two fundamental blocks of an educational system. Students and Teachers both need to refresh their knowledge with the passing of time as the world is moving towards technological advancement which leads to the discovery as well as the invention of new aspects in the architectural field of education as well as practice. Hence in order to provide the best teaching to the student, teachers must also know the best of all. The architectural education system needs integration & implementation of innovation, practical knowledge, and present-day concerns in teaching methodologies.

TAKE - AWAYS

- Knowledge of new techniques for teaching and learning & implementation of the same.
- Insight on amalgamation of current vs future (needs) in architectural teaching pedagogy.
- Academicians will get inspired and learn from examples of case studies on various topics discussed in talks by experts.

The confluence looks at the dichotomy of academia & practice. How they become the two sides of the same coin. We need to look at how the two realms work distinctly, in parallel and collaboratively.

The presentation will discuss the possibilities in which we can engage with the most pressing issues affecting architecture of the current times and how can academia address them. It will also discuss a couple of studio examples and their outcomes. A short manifesto towards the end to consolidate the position that we take through the experimental studios. Allowing for discussions to rethink the studio strategies bringing them closer to reality and at the same time keeping them conveniently away from the nuisance of the perceived reality.

The presentation will try and unpack some of the issues that need to be considered when designing a design studio for different kinds of learning. The presentation will be divided into 5 parts.

The first part 'The Questions from the Ground' will survey the kinds of issues seen in the contemporary built scademy. These would be Architect-Architecture, Self-Other, Individual-Collective, Object-System, Abstract Experiential, Technical-Sociopolitical and Analytical-Intuitive. We shall then look at the case of the Design environment and architectural practice. These would include questions of the nature of democratic space, questions of ecology, history, ideas of beauty and the nature of architectural practice itself. This will be followed by a section titled 'The Role of the Academy' where three propositions concerning this role would be iuggested concerning knowledge, concerning the responsibility, and considering the discipline. We would also look at how the design studio plays the role of a rehearsal space in architectural education. This would be ollowed by introducing 7 dialectical questions within which architectural questions can be asked in the Studio at the KRVIA and their attempt at building the arc of design learning through the five years. Using specific examples of studios, we shall see how the studio was introduced, the role of knowledge creation, nodes of mapping and representation utilised, and some examples of student work.

What are the technological shifts and how does the computational (and not digital) enter into design thinking? pedagogy respond to it? What are the ways of thinking about the environment and cultures beyond the ideas of green building, climate change and heritage? What are the coordinates of the emerging household, Why are the discussions around caste and gender intensifying in recent years and how should design community, public and its inhabitation and how should design pedagogy respond to it?

he session will take up questions like this to discuss. It will be delivered in three parts - first, a critique of the exsting 'design-studio' based pedagogy, its methods, orientations, objectives, etc; second, a discussion on emerging cultural dimensions of the society with respect to shifts in economy, technology, society and environment; and third, a discussion towards re-strategizing the 'design-studio' based pedagogy to align with he emerging cultures. The objective of the session is to develop concepts for rethinking the design studio.

This presentation intends to describe the pedagogy of Architectural design studios where newer methods are adopted and a process-based design studio is conducted. The pedagogical design studio carries with it a certain philosophy of learning using a phenomenological and qualitative approach. Emphasis is laid on design as a prostudios' learning experience and that as one of the most successful strategies which plays a significant role and cess rather than design as a product. The methodology focuses on integrating theory format courses into design has a direct impact on teaching architectural design.

The presentation is divided into four parts starting from the aim and objectives of our architectural design studias, intended learning agends and how we need to communicate it to students. It describes how an architectural design brief should be written and its need to be elaborate.

INTERPRETING AND MAIN-STREAMING LIVING INDIAN URBAN HERITAGE

Date & Time: 13th (Tuesday) To 16th(Friday) September 2022, 10:30 AM to 03:30 PM

Preamble

Studying architecture involves understanding History of Architecture, measured drawing exercises, related competitions, and most importantly urban studies and contextual design studios. An attempt to reinforce these subjects, this program intends to create awareness about Living Indian Urban Heritage and gives primary introduction of its important aspects. Urban studies considers Heritage Management as a separate approach and it is a global challenge to blend these two approaches for better handling of living heritage entities. In this program, eminent speakers will cover various related topics to understand and interpret the Subject. The four days (4 sessions / day, each session of one hour) program will take the attendees through crisp basic concepts to different approaches of handling Living Urban Heritage, issues, and needs. Traditional/Vernacular local techniques, an Integral part of the Living Heritage, will also be covered with contemporary relevance. This will help in knowing Urban India holistically without separating the Heritage areas, sites, and techniques in the contemporary scenario. The scholars will explain the concepts, approaches and different ways will the help of case studies so as to maintain the involvement of experts and beginners at the same time.

Objectives of the program:

- To create awareness for the Urban Heritage with tangible and intangible perspective.
- To give primary understanding and vision for interpretation of vernacular architecture.
- To introduce the ways and techniques of addressing challenges of the Urban Heritage.

Key Take-Away for participants

- Awareness in conducting design studios with respect to inseparable thread of Living Urban Heritage in Indian scenario.
- Understanding the language of Living Urban Heritage and interpreting its architectural design aspects.
- Exposure to different approaches and methods of design with the Urban Heritage.

About the FDP \

Seeing the profound technological advancements it is imperative to encourage architects and building professionals to use and participate in research to better their firm, profession, and industry. Such programs are an effort to provide an in-depth understanding of emerging concepts and techniques for quantitative and qualitative research in architecture and urban design studies. It will offer a forum for discussion on research through case studies addressing research methods, tools, data collection, and data analysis techniques to be used in architecture and allied spheres.

This program will stimulate research skills and enhance an individual's understanding of research methods, resources, and different ways to pursue studies in this field.

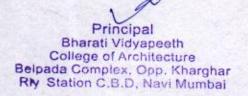

The participants will be able to comprehend how to apply research methods and strategies to carry out similar studies in different contexts and integrate and adapt them to their individual academic and professional fields.

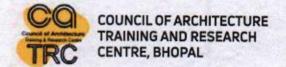

The program is intended for Ph.D Scholars, Early-career researchers, and academicians throughout the nation.

TAKE-AWAYS \

- Knowledge of modern research techniques and their application in current research practices.
- Clarity on current paradigms that are emerging in architectural research will also be provided to the participants.
- Examples from recent and ongoing research studies will inspire future researches in allied domains.

Barrier-Free Design and Universal Design Principle in Architecture and Planning

About the FDP

Approximately one billion people suffer from some form of disability worldwide. Disabilities isolate people from full participation in society through physical, social, economic, and attitude barriers. Not only differently Abled but everyone needs barrier-free access.

As a result of a barrier-free environment people can move with safety and freedom and take advantage of all types of built and unbuilt environment. Designing for barrier-free access supports individuals' ability to function independently, so all activities can be taken part in without assistance.

The term barrier-free covers a wide range of issues. Similarly Universal design is also associated with barrier-free design, referring to the concept of Design for All. Universal design means the design of products, environments, programs, and services to be usable by all people, to the greatest extent possible, without the need for adaptation or specialized design.

The aim of universal design and barrier-free environment is to develop theory, principles, and solutions to enable everybody to use the same physical solutions to the greatest extent possible, whether it be buildings, outdoor areas, means of communication, or household goods. Universal design opposes, ideologically and politically, all unnecessary stigmatizing specialized solutions. whether they are intended for people with disabilities or other groups of population. Barrier-free features and universal design principles now becoming fundamental to concepts. The awareness level about the necessity of barrier-free access needs to be raised. The inculcation of these concepts in Architect and Planning definitely bring the massive effect

Hence this proposed Faculty development Program intends to look into all the prospects of Barrier-free design and universal design principles in the Architecture and Planning domain. And also, to conduct a capacity building Program for stakeholders.

To,
Principals / Directors,
Bharati Vidyapeeth
Bharati Vidyapeeth (Deemed to be University)
Higher Education,
Pune and Other Centers

It is a matter of pride to inform you that KOHA software has been recently implemented in all libraries of Bharati Vidyapeeth and Bharati Vidyapeeth (Deemed to be University).

In this connection, for the smooth functioning of the libraries, the authorities of Bharati Vidyapeeth and Bharati Vidyapeeth (Deemed to be University), Pune have decided to conduct a two day training Workshop on "Innovative Practices for Smart Libraries and Librarianship" on 28th and 29th July, 2023 at Bharati Vidyapeeth Educational Campus, Pune Satara Road, Pune (Rajiv Gandhi Inst. of IT & BT Auditorium, Pune).

The librarians and all the staff working in the library of all the Colleges / Institutes are requested to attend the workshop compulsorily. Also, please note that the clerical staff who are not working in Library but are B.Lib. or M.Lib. qualified, also can attend the Workshop. Please note that the stay arrangements for outstation staff will be made in the Bharati Vidyapeeth Educational Complex at Dhankawadi, Pune. The outstation staff should come to Pune one day prior to the workshop. For any queries, kindly contact our Coordinators, Shri. S. R. Jadhav (Mob.: 97628 99625) or Mr. Pawan Kumar Mohite (Mob.: 90280 00378).

The sessions are planned in an interactive manner with sufficient time for discussions and question / answers. This workshop will give much needed expertise on successfully running this software.

The Principals and Directors of the Colleges are requested to make sure that the librarians and supporting staff of the library attend this Workshop compulsorily.

Architectural Theory

Council of Architecture Training & Research Corbe

Convened by Prof. Jayashree Deshpande, Director, COA-TRC, Pune Conducted and Coordinated by Prof. Ritu G. Deshmukh, Principal, BVCOA, Navi Mumbai

Venue: Bharati Vidyapeeth College of Architecture, Navi Mumbai, Belpada Complex, Sector 7, Opp. Kharghar Railway Station, C.B.D. Belapur, Navi Mumbai. Dates: 4th to 8th December, 2019

Last date for registration: Tuesday , 26 November, 2019

Preamble

What is history and what is architectural theory and how it is important to articulate within the context of contemporary architectural paradigm. The training program primarily explores the principles, ideological position (theoretical) and its implication on architecture that has shaped the cities and built environment.

Architectural position is an approach that desired to revitalize the way we shape and view life, art, politics, and science. It is imperative to understand and question in theoretical sense the moral codes that societies laid out in the past in order to re-position the new codes.

The training program explores the method to dissect the "theory" conceptually as well as contextually & see its significance in the context of architecture & urbanism.

The course contains four sections. The first part shall elaborate the process and situation (social and cultural methods) that has shaped architectural productions. The second part shall establish the relationship with the project and production in architecture. The third part shall emphasize the work on variation in theoretical approaches. The last section shall examine the emerging architectural practices and discussion of regionalism.
