2.2 Udaipur Workshop Feb 2024

Description	This second part about traditional water management structures in Rajasthan was a counterpoint to the film made in Jaipur in 2023, entitled Waiting. In this one, the expectation of water manifests itself in each plane, by its absence. Conversely, the omnipresence of water was characterize the next film to be made in Udaipur, famous for its landscape of artificial lakes around which the city has settled. From the lakes bordering the palaces, to the dams and water reservoirs that organize the territory, we explored the encounter between water and architecture during a two-part workshop. The workshop was skillfully conducted by two esteemed French nationals, Célia Lebarbey, an accomplished Architect, and Marylène Negro, a talented Filmmaker. Alongside them, Anshul Rai, Assistant Professor of BVCOA Navi Mumbai, and a dedicated team from @leewardists, comprising Anuj Kale and Shreya Khandekar, mentored an exceptional group of students.
